Guards Along the Long Sault Canal
Fired on Aeroplane.

Washington, Sept. 17.—Aeroplanists in the northern part of the United States were warned to-day to be careful not to cross the border into Canada during the war. This explanation was issued by the State Department:

"The department has been advised by the American consul-general at Montreal that an aeroplane was recently fired upon by Canadian guards while near the Long Sault Canal. This was done, the consul-general states, in compliance with a general order of the Dominion Government regarding the use of air craft in Canada."
