

Germans Frightened.

While the search was on for Jocko near Golden Lake today an armed party called at the home of a German farmer where only the women of the family were at home, to ask if they had seen Jocko. As soon as the women saw the rifles they began to cry and hastened to assure the party they were not hostile to the British. They thought that the men were Canadian soldiers carrying war into Renfrew county with the object of arresting all the Germans there and where there are hundreds, most of whom, however, are loyal to Canada and the Empire.
