

FACES MORE CHARGES

John Martin, Government Interpreter, Likely to Face Other Charges in Police Court.

According to the police many of the Austrians and Germans, who are not conversant with the English language are desirous of laying charges against John Martin, who was found guilty of obtaining money from Austrians and Germans at the local Alien Registry Office on Bank street, on the pretence that he would either secure them work, or told them if they did not hand over the "greenbacks" they would be sent to the detention camps at Kingston or Petawawa.

Remanded from yesterday for sentence Martin appeared in court this morning, and as Detective Downey explained he had other charges to lay and also was in the receipt of many complaints, he wanted a remand. It was granted.

A leading police official told The Journal this morning that he believed that the case would drag along for a long time, owing to the fact that many other complaints were piling up on Martin's head all the time. He alleged that Martin had sold naturalization papers, taken money to buy steamship tickets for foreigners, and committed other crimes against his fellow countrymen. Martin has been in Canada 13 years. He will again come up in police court next Thursday, and at present he is out on bail.
