Member Asks to Have His Name Dropped From Canadian Forestry Association.

That pro-German sympathies have inoculated at least a few American citizens would appear from a letter received today by Mr. Robson Black, secretary of the Canadian Forestry Association. The writer is Albert Hanford Moore, of Washington, D.C., and his statement reads:

"I beg to submit my resignation from your society. As a German sympathizer I feel that I cannot consistently belong to a British society. The war is very regrettable and especially the carrying of it into private business, but it is so."

Moore is not of German lineage.
