

Two American citizens of German origin, who have been prisoners of war at Fort Henry, were released after the authorities at Ottawa had decided that they should go free before Magistrate Kelly. The proprietor of the Hotel Bedford, Godrich, was confined for the second time in a week and paid a fine of $175 and costs.