

A delegation of a thousand unemployed in Montreal invaded the City Hall, swamping Council chamber galleries, corridors and staircases. The entire reserves of the Central Police Station were called out by the Mayor.