

Prisoner Taken Violently Ill.

The authorities at Fort Henry had some trouble on Friday evening owing to one of the German prisoners being taken suddenly ill with convulsions. For a time he was so bad that it took about ten of his companions to hold him down until he was removed to hospital where he could receive medical attention.

S. S. Corbett's ambulance was summoned and the prisoner of war was taken to the General Hospital. Three of the guards doing duty at the fort accompanied him. He was so violent that it was necessary to strap him to a stretcher.
