

It would be interesting to know how many hundreds of dollars it cost the government to collect a fine of $3.90 from a guard accused of smashing office furniture at the internment camp. And the end is not yet.