

Nobody will look down upon the Queen's students who fail to pass their German examinations this spring. Those who do not make a good mark in the Kaiser's language should be honored for their lack of knowledge of the dialect of the-fearful Huns. Queen's senate should replace German with the language of some less savage nation.