

The four interns who broke away last week have all been re-captured. Two of the quartette gave themselves up and the other two were gobbled as they attempted to cross the bridge.