

J. E. Terrill and J. W. Bowden, of Lethbridge, the former accompanied by his wife and family, motored from their home up to Banff this week. They are spending a holiday here and on Wednesday drove their car to the internment camp at Castle mountain, having the distinction of being the first motor party to make the camp since the floods. They found the road in good condition.