

VERY FEW OUTRAGES BY ALIEN ENEMIES.

Authorities Satisfied After Two Years of War— Damage Small

Ottawa, Aug. 11.—After two years of war the federal authorities are fully satisfied with the conduct of alien enemies in Canada within that period. There were a few outrages, but very few.

A German named Van Horn attempted to blow up a C.P.R. bridge at Vanceboro, on the New Brunswick boundary; another plot to destroy a munition factory at Windsor was discovered and there have been a number of cases to which suspicion was attached.

Considering, however, that Canada is at war the amount of damage done or attempted is insignificant in comparison with what has happened in the United States, a neutral country.

While upwards of 6,000 people were interned the greater part of them were taken in because of being public charges. The majority has been released.

Hon. C. J. Doherty, under whom comes the internment of aliens, expresses himself as well satisfied with the way things are going. He says the Austrians have proved particularly inoffensive.
