

CAPT. KILMER LOSES LEG WHEN GRENADE BURSTS

Enjoying splendid health, Capt. C. E. Kilmer, D.S.O., returned to his parents' home at 171 Crescent road yesterday. Capt. Kilmer left Toronto a year ago last May, enlisting with the 19th Battalion. He was nine months in France, and went through the severe fighting in the Ypres salient. He won the D.S.O. after leading his bombers on a trench raid, and being so severely wounded in the leg and foot that the right leg had to be amputated below the knee. A hand grenade burst against his feet.

Capt. Ward Wright, with his wife and two children, are spending a few days with the former's uncle, Mr. N. W. Rowell, K.C., M.P.P., in Crescent road, before proceeding to his home in London, Ont. Capt. Wright has just returned from the front, where he was wounded at Courcelette. He expects to return to the front early in the new year. He took part in the heavy fighting around Courcelette, but the gallant officer remarked that there was little of the place recognizable when their division got there.

UNIVERSITY TAG DAY.

Yesterday was Tag Day for the students and staff of the University of Toronto, the money raised being for the Naval Relief Fund and as a Christmas present in the shape of a Christmas dinner for the guards at the internment camps. About $325 was obtained.

Although the far-reaching influences of the war have added enormously to the cost of tea, the recent advance of five cents a pound in the price of "Salada" only means that you will now get eight cups for a cent instead of nine, and when you get that unique flavor, absolutely unchanged.
