

A TURKISH SUBJECT

FAILED TO REGISTER

Also, He Annoyed Women in the Street, Police Said, and Magistrate Fined Him.

Whether Gus Sapero was chasing down a Turkish bath or merely looking for a place to buy a standard drink was not stated. Two soldiers saw him following a woman. They stopped him and handed him over to the police. To-day in the police court it developed that while following ladies on the street he had neglected to follow the instructions laid down by the law, to wit, as they say in police court circles, he had forgotten to get himself registered as an alien enemy. Sapero hails from the land of the inconstant Constantinople, but is a Turkish subject. It cost him $10 and costs to prevent the sword of justice falling across his neck to the extent of 30 days.

An Unwise Solomon.

What's in a name? Harry Solomon by any other name, could not have been less wise. To-day Magistrate Denison handed him over to the military. Solomon will now have leisure to contemplate the folly of being classed as a defaulter from His Majesty's Army.
