Ottawa, April 25.—That the stream of German emigration is likely to turn Canadawards, is stated in a report to Department of Trade and Commerce from J. T. Lithgow, acting trade agent at Berlin.

Mr. Lithgow points out that his office under the German law is not permitted to induce German subjects to emigrate, but information may be given and has been given in response to numerous enquiries from people, who have decided to go to Canada, nearly all of whom are in comfortable circumstances, and many with considerable money to invest."
