

A clever piece of work by a young naval officer led to the capture of German reservists on board the Montserrat by the cruiser Glory, which brought them to Halifax. The officer was seized by the Germans while semaphoring the news to the cruiser.