

An important judgment has been delivered by Judge Thompson bearing on the rights of alien enemies, Germans and Austrians, being admitted to naturalization while the British Empire is at war with the countries whence such persons come. The judgment in effect says that Canadians are under no obligation to Germans or Austrians to afford them the protection of citizenship while they, as citizens of an enemy country, are possibly spying how they can best hit Canadian industries or means of transportation.