

Three Turks were arrested in London, Ont., one of whom had an unposted letter to a Detroit German saying that the writer and companions were going to start something.