

LOCAL WAR PRISONERS IN CEL

Were Impertinent to Guard, But Mutiny Minimized.

Officers at ~~Stanley~~ Barracks greatly minimized the report of a threatened mutiny among the German and Austrian prisoners Saturday. The men grew impertinent because smoking was prohibited, were impudent to the guard, and five of them were placed in a cell overnight.

It was denied that revolvers were drawn or that an attempt was made to rush the guard. Smoking was prohibited in the sleeping quarters because a carelessly tossed stub set a towel on fire.
