

Hunt the Slipper In Kohlmann Case

Uncertainty as to Who Has to Deal With Former Civic Employee

Dr. Kohlmann is still interned. Meanwhile a judicial game of hunt the slipper is being played with the authority for dealing with the case as the slipper.

Judge Coatsworth told The Daily News yesterday morning that the matter had passed out of his jurisdiction into that of Colonel Otter.

A report to The Daily News from its Ottawa correspondent shortly afterwards stated that "the Kohlmann case has been turned over to Judge Coatsworth. The authorities have notified Judge Coatsworth to act as he thinks best."

At 1 o'clock to-day the judge told The Daily News that he had received no notification to that effect from Ottawa, though such action was quite possible in view of the fact that General Otter is so much in Ottawa.

Another story is published to the effect that the "slipper" has been passed on to Lieut.-Col. Elliott, who was stated to have interviewed a civic official who advised passing it on to the police court.
