

ALIEN'S GRATITUDE MADE DIFFICULTIES

Claimed Interned Man Was His Benefactor Who Supported Him.

WAS DETAINED, ALSO

Josef Kniaz Went Looking for Work With Big Sum of Money.

Josef Kniaz, an Austrian laborer, went looking for work yesterday with $125.00 in his pocket. He went to the pumping station. To-day his is in Stanley barracks.

The military guards arrested the man for poking round the station. They marched him to the office of the Registrar of Alien Enemies, between armed guards. There search disclosed the surprising sum of money in $20, $10 and $5 bills. Had he been paid in advance for doing damage or for making preparations to do damage? The Registrar thought it would be well to investigate.

Kniaz's house was searched last night and various papers in Polish were seized. They will be translated to-day.

Josef said he was not a reservist. To-day a friend Ludwik Gliniski, living in the same house, came to see if he could give bail or render assistance in any way. Was Kniaz a reservist? he was asked. Yes he was.

Captain Was Agreeable.

"He told me he was not a reservist, had never been in the army. You won't see him again till the end of the war," said Captain Wandless.

"I might as well go in there myself. He took care of me. He paid my board. I owe him $65.00."

"All right. Sit down. We'll take care of you."

Then Gliniski was sorry. He began to apologize volubly. He had not meant that, he did not want to go to prison. But it worried Captain Wandless to think of an Austrian laborer paying for another man's board and still having $125 in big bills in his pocket when he went looking for work at the pumping station. While the alien protested a policeman was phoned for. He came and led Ludwik away to No. 1 Police Station, to wait for a military escort to take him to join his friend and benefactor in Stanley barracks.
