

HORN WEPT WHEN AGAIN TAKEN IN CHARGE.

Machias, Maine, March 8.—Horn, the German officer who blew up the Canadian Pacific Railway bridge at Vanceboro, imagining he was committing "an act of war," was taken to Bangor today for trial on a charge of transporting explosives. Horn wept when, in spite of his parents, he was handcuffed to a deputy sheriff.