

TORONTO.

Scurboro' Beach was opened for the summer season.

University students returned from Niagara training camp.

The transatlantic liner Transylvania is expected to reach Liverpool to-day.

The City Council will to-day deal with the problem of a new head for the Fire Department.

A seaman, believed to be George Rice, 73 Sydenham street, was drowned in the Sunday squall which overtook the big dredge Cyclone.

Gustave Klefer, Godfried Moser and George Harum, three alleged German spies, operating in the vicinity of Exhibition camp, have been interned pending further investigation into their operations.

THE DOMINION.

The new Manitoba Cabinet is announced.

Reuben C. Martindale, proprietor of Sandhill Hotel, in Sandwich West, ended his life by shooting.

William, the sixteen-year-old son of Charles Knight of Paris, Ont., was accidentally killed while shooting.

It is stated on good authority that the C. P. R. purchasing department has been placed at the service of the allies.

About fifty Austrians, Hungarians and Austrian Poles were brought from Guelph to Toronto to be cared for, being workless, penniless and hungry.

The mother of Capt. Foote, master of the Noronic, celebrated her hundredth birthday at Fergus, surrounded by her five living sons and two daughters.

Mrs. Kathleen Blake Coleman, known to Canadian newspaper readers as "Kit," died at her home in Hamilton, after only two days' illness of pneumonia, at the age of fifty-one.

BRITISH AND FOREIGN.

An anti-Japanese riot in Hankow, China, was quelled by the British.

A British aviator looped the loop while chasing a German under.

The number of Oxford undergraduates for the summer term is very low.

Passengers on the St. Paul arrived in New York told of having seen the body of a woman clinging to a Lusitania raft.