

The local police got their lawn touched up nicely on Monday in return for three squares to a bunch of hungry Austrians. It seems to have been a contract which, for once, pleased both parties.