

Russians Enlist. — Twenty-seven Russians were enlisted at The Pas last week for overseas service with the Canadian forces. They have been sent to Prince Albert for preliminary training before going to the Sewell camp. These men will likely form part of a Canadian Russian corps that will fight as a separate unit. A number of Russians are now being enlisted in the east. The compatriots of those who enlisted at The Pas felt somewhat aggrieved because the band did not turn out and play them off, as the same courtesy had been accorded to other detachments of recruits from there.
