

30 Austrians

Arrive at Fort From Petawawa

The concentration camp at Fort Henry under Lieut.-Col. J. J. H. Fee is making a reputation for itself all over the country as one of the best managed and safest concentration camps. The camp for Austrians is a temporary camp at Petawawa, the prisoners being confined between barbed wire enclosures. This has proved too quiet a life for some of the Austrians, however, and there has been constant trouble with a certain bunch who are determined to cause as much trouble as possible for the authorities. It was decided a few days ago to bring them down to Kingston where they could be more easily taken care of and thirty arrived over the C. P. R. in a special coach on Monday afternoon.
