

J. O. Querin, of German origin, joined the 90th Overseas Battalion and then started to gloat over alleged German successes. Other members of the battalion complained with the result he was placed under arrest and will be interned. A near riot started on account of several remarks he made. The police patrol was called out to protect him.