

ESCAPED GERMANS STILL AT LARGE NEAR LETHBRIDGE

Know Country Well and May Be Able to Cross Border

LETHBRIDGE, May 1.—None of the six Germans who made their escape from the internment camp here Wednesday morning have been apprehended. The escape was of the most ingenious character and it is a wonder that the whole forty prisoners did not escape at the same time.

The men escaped by tunneling a distance of 111 feet under the wall of the building and past the outer fence of the exhibition grounds. The work was done at night, the men working three or four at a time and using tools manufactured out of all sorts of odds and ends gathered by them around the camp.

All the men who escaped came from the Lethbridge district and know the surrounding country well, and it is thought that the police will have a hard time to recapture them, as they may be able to reach the boundary and cross into the United States.
