

There's no use in making a trusty of a German, as Fort Henry officials have learned to their cost. The inside of the fort walls is plenty good enough for the gentry who are costing the country so much to keep—from doing mischief.