

YOUNG GERMAN SHOOTS HIMSELF THROUGH HEART

He Quarrelled With Parents, It Is Said, Because He Joined
C.A.M.C.

Windsor, Sept. 28. — Information reached local recruiting headquarters today through police channels that Clarence Machtrieb, twenty-one years old, whose home is at Hudson, Michigan, had committed suicide yesterday by shooting himself through the heart.

Machtrieb, who is of German descent, enlisted here with the Army Medical Corps last week. He was given a furlough to go back to his parent's home, and advise them that he had joined the Canadian forces, and was to have returned to his corps today.

According to details reaching here, when the young man announced to his parents that he had decided to fight against his Fatherland, because he was an American citizen, and not a German, there was a violent quarrel, the culmination of which was his suicide.
