

"The foreigners in Canada who are ineligible to enlist or to be drafted ought to be taxed to the very limit—or sent home."—Kingston Whig.,

But while some people are talking heatedly about these enemy aliens because they have not as yet been adequately dealt with—have not been drafted either for war or for industry, but allowed full benefit of high wages—they should stop and ask themselves a question. If it is the adequate handling of this problem they are anxious about, they should stop and ask themselves whether they are more likely to see justice enforced in this matter by the new Government whose leader was howled down by enemy aliens in Kitchener, or by that Opposition whose leader was cheered by that same crowd.
