As a result of a raid made on about fifty houses in the west end of the city, which are occupied by foreigners, fifteen men were arrested on Sunday by the city police, charged with having literature prohibited under the War Measures Act in their possession.

The court house was besieged this morning with friends of the men charged, but owing to the health regulations, Magistrate Elliot sought the authority of the Board of Health for prohibiting such a large gathering of men in the court room. As the court could not be conveniently adjourned, none but those connected with the case were allowed in court and only a limited number at a time.
