

SAULT CANAL GUARD TO BE REMOVED IN NEXT DAY OR TWO

Favorite Recreation Spot Will Be Open to the Public Again

Information has reached the city that the Sault Ste. Marie Canal Guard are to be disbanded in the course of the next day or two. This will remove from the Sault the last appearance of military operations in connection with the great war.

For four years, the ship canal, which was one of the first sights which visitors to the Sault looked for, has been closed from public view, and Whitefish Island, which was a beauty spot on the city's waterfront before the war, has been out of bounds of the public as a recreation ground.

The privilege of returning to the old summer resort next year will give the citizens considerable satisfaction, as the familiar demand for passports will no longer be heard.
