

The Austrians released from the internment camp to work in the mines at Nanaimo have been placed in custody pending return to their place of detention. This is as it should be.