

A Hint To Enemy Aliens

It is the proud boast of the British Empire that not one alien enemy, living under the Flag, was harmed during the stressful and exciting days of war.

The mighty arm of British law and the strong sense of British fair play, protected him.

But let no alien enemy suppose for a moment that weakness prevented severe treatment. The Britisher is civilized, and he is generous, and he is kind; but he is strong.

Today there is a growing feeling in many quarters that certain foreign or outside elements are fomenting internal strife in Canada, and taking advantage of misunderstandings among Canadian citizens, to fan the more passionate among certain Canadian-born into a state of anarchy.

Depend upon it, that if one act of lawlessness or inciting to lawlessness is laid at the door of any alien enemy, it will provoke a demand for deportation on a wider scale than has yet been contemplated.

The Flag of our country represents all that is fair and just. Under it no man dare trifle with the constitutional laws of the nation.
