

Four stalwart Austrians were up before the magistrate charged with not being regularly employed. They were Wasył Kolotolo, Wasył Boiznuik, Tony Telehus and Mike Bódua. Each of them had an excuse to make, but none of them could put up one reasonable in the opinion of the magistrate, and they were each fined $25 and costs.