

Mr A. (Sandy) Phillips was down from Petawawa this week; he is a guard at the big internment camp and states that while the work is not hard it is onerous, hours are long and drill regular. The prisoners refuse to work and they spend most of their time in wood-carving, at which some of them are adepts. Mr Phillips brought home with him one of these specimens of carving; it is a photo frame made out of an ordinary piece of spruce stove-wood and carved with a common small pocket knife.—Arnprior Chronicle.
