

A Toronto photographer, named Russell, has been detained at the military camp, Burks' Falls, as a suspicious character. His camera was confiscated. He takes views for Canadian and American magazines and ventured too close to the interment camp.