

SUSPECTED OF SPYING

Is Placed Under Arrest by Montreal Police

(Western Associated Press)

MONTREAL, July 27.—A man giving his name as Jean Bouchard was arrested Saturday on Mount Royal on suspicion of being a German spy. He had maps of Montreal, with locations of the armories, stations and public buildings marked, also German papers and nearly $300 in cash.

Police think "Bouchard" may have been signalling to aeroplanes which have been reported in this vicinity. He had been under surveillance by the police on the mountain for several days.
