

Eleven prisoners of war who have been arrested in various points throughout the Boundary district were brought up from the south on Wednesday and are now in the city jail. They will be transferred in a day, or two to the building formerly used for the Vernon branch of the Hospital for the Insane where Mr. Callaway, of the secret service, is in charge. These prisoners are Germans and Austrians, who have attempted to leave the country to join the fighting line. It is expected that a large number of the same class will arrive from the coast in a few days.
