

The county police at Chatham are investigating the alleged conspiracy on the part of three Germans from Detroit to blow up three canning factories in Kent County, engaged in preparing canned goods for shipment to the Allies. A Canadian woman who speaks German is said to have overheard the foreigners plotting the destruction of the plants while the train was coming to Chatham.