

One of the internment camp guards was the victim of an accident last week, which while not serious is painful. He was reloading the magazine of his rifle when the weapon accidentally discharged, lodging a bullet in his foot.