

TRICKY TURKS

Said to Have Swindled London People
Out of Thousands.

London, Oct., July 30.—George Joseph, a Turk, now in the Middlesex county jail, and two compatriots whom the police are seeking have, it is alleged, swindled people of this city and district out of thousands of dollars within the last few weeks by representing themselves as collectors for a missionary enterprise in their native country.

Among the men's "recommendations" was a letter purporting to have come from the Archbishop of Assyria, and many prominent people of the district have been victimized, including a number of clergymen.

A warning in the Presbyterian and other religious journals led to the authorities taking action. Joseph is of good appearance, apparently well educated, and generally "smooth."
