

Three Germans were rounded up at the village of Parham, near Kingston, and sent to the detention camp at Petewawa. They were found on the waterfront deciphering a railway map.