OTTAWA, Ont., Oct. 28.—A plan to deal with the Germans and Austrians in Canada was adopted by the cabinet in a special meeting held at noon today. An order in council was passed which will be signed by the governor-general late this afternoon, when an official statement will be made by Sir George E. Foster, acting premier. It is believed the scheme provides for the establishment of registry offices in all large centres and in places where there are colonies of alien enemies. They will be required to register.

Those who are not of military age will be given permits to leave the country if they wish to do so, or to move freely. Others will be required to report every so often and will be kept under surveillance. As there are hundreds of Austrians and Germans unable to get employment and not allowed to leave the country, it is felt that they must not be permitted to starve and become a burden on municipalities.

Concentration camps will be established at various points, where they can be fed and, where possible, put to work. As far as practical they will be put at useful work and one proposal is to establish camps in Jasper and Rocky Mountain Parks. The men would be put at work clearing the bush and cutting lumber, which could be used for needy settlers in Alberta and Saskatchewan. This is not official, but it is understood it is along the lines the government is working.
