

London City Council refused to dismiss H. J. Glaubitz, general manager of Hydro-Electric Commission. Ald. Mitchell wanted resignation because of German birth. Mayor Graham voted against scheme, and said it was "un-British."