

Crafty German Citizen Became an Orangeman

Captain Wandless, Assistant Registrar of alien enemies, announced yesterday that considerably over two thousand aliens had registered up to date, and the crowds seeking registration are growing daily.

A peculiar case came before Captain Wandless yesterday when a German subject said he had been in Canada ten years and had taken some of the highest degrees in the Orange Order in the city, and was also a Free Mason, yet he had never become a naturalized British subject. He had, of course, taken the oath of loyalty to the King by entering the Orange Order.

THE MAN BEHIND THE GUN

cannot work effectively without proper ammunition. So a motor, cylinder, machine of any kind, or lamp, will not work well with poor oil. We make that good oil. The British American Oil Co., Limited, refiners, Toronto.
