GERMANS' INGRATITUDE YEES CHIEF DETECTIVE: INSPECTOR KENNEDY SAYS IT The Globe (1844-1936); May 18, 1915; ProQuest Historical Newspapers: The Globe and Mail

GERMANS' INGRATITUDE VEXES CHIEF DETECTIVE

pg. 7

INSPECTOR KENNEDY SAYS IT'S TIME TEUTONS APPRECIATED KINDNESS.

"TVA too generous with you Germans, and as a result you think our treatment of alien enemies is simply an indication of weakness on our It is almost time you appreclated the courtesies extended to you and learned not to consider our treatment as simplicity." Thus spoke Inspector of Detectives George Kennedy yesterday afternoon to Myer, a native of Stuttgart, Germany, after he had been ushered into the office of the detective inspector after Plainclothesman Maurer and had recited to his chief the complaint against Myer. which showed that Myer was guilty of a typical highhanded German action. Myer is employed as a chef by a local hotel and has had the authority to employ or discharge any of his help. The sinking of the Lusitania was being discussed last week by the help, with Myer taking the leading part, it is alleged, and endeavoring to force his views upon his employees. An Assyrian, who occupied a junior the staff, took a proposition on nounced anti-German stand. The result of the argument was the disof the Assyrian. Not concharge tent with throwing the man out of employment, Myer immediately em-ployed one of his fellow-countrymen. denied the allegations and efforts be made to locate the discharged Assyrian with a view to employing him again.

After an hour in the detective office Myer was taken to the office of the Registrar of Allen facts of the case were again recited.

Myer was then interned.

communicated with the manager of the hotel and strongly advised that

Inspector

Myer denied offered excuses.

Reproduced with permission of the copyright owner. Further reproduction prohibited without permission.

Kennedy