

Taken From Train to Fort.

A German who made himself distasteful to the other members on the train Sunday afternoon, while travelling to Kingston, was hurriedly taken into custody when the train pulled into the local G.T.R. station. At various points along the line from Montreal the German freely expressed himself as an enemy of Britain. The train conductor telegraphed to Kingston to be on the look out for him and in less time than it takes to tell it, he was nabbed and hustled to Fort Henry in an automobile.
