

GERMANS REVOLTED

An Outbreak in a Prison Camp at Vernon, B.C.

Vancouver, B.C., June 3—A despatch from Vernon, B.C., where an internment camp is located, says that an outbreak occurred this morning amongst the Germans there. It is reported that two Germans were stuck with bayonets, one prisoner being badly hurt. The prisoners are being worked on road construction in the neighborhood and one version of the story says that this morning men were called upon to work, but refused. One man, while being marched along a road, leaned back on a bayonet which penetrated his back a few inches, it is stated.
